BORROWER ORDERS 56	USERS ORDERING 15	3-BUREAU 82.1%	MEDIAN SCORE 718
WORTH A SECOND LOOK $793	WAITING ON A BUREAU 7	COST PER ORDER $112	NET BILLED $6,262

OWNER SNAPSHOT

- Orders: 56 borrower orders in August 2026, placed by 15 users.
- Three-bureau coverage: 46 of 56 orders (82.1%) returned all three applicant bureau scores.
- Middle score: median 718 on the 47 orders with all three scores. 9 orders had no middle score.
- Pipeline: 7 files still waiting on a bureau at month end, 2 files cleared through a bureau copy for $32.00, and 18 earlier files still being worked.
- Repeat pulls: 6 borrowers pulled more than once. 3 are worth a question, 3 explained by the file.
- Worth a second look: $793.10 across 10 files, from repeat pulls worth a question and paid pulls that returned no middle score.
- Spend: $6,262.37 net billed, $111.83 per borrower order. Card and SmartPay covered $4,305.47 at the time of order. The billing detail at the end of this summary ties every dollar to a file.

By branch

Each order and each charge is placed in the branch of the user who placed it, as set on the ISC account. Charges include every service billed to that branch this month. Median score is shown where a branch has five or more scored orders, and cost per order where it has three or more orders.

Branch	Orders	Charges	Cost / Order	Median Score	No Score	Worth a Second Look	Waiting on a Bureau
Northshore	44	$4,899.08	$111.34	718	7	$614.23	5
Canyon Ridge	12	$1,363.29	$113.61	681	2	$178.87	2
Company	56	$6,262.37	$111.83	718	9	$793.10	7

IN THIS REPORT

This summary covers the whole company. Billing detail for the whole company closes this summary. Each branch follows with its own detail: orders, spend, repeat pulls and the files still waiting on a bureau, listed by borrower, so a branch's pages can be handed to its manager on their own.

Billing detail

For whoever reconciles the ISC invoice. The ISC invoice is the statement of record for what is due; this section explains how the month's charges line up with the files.

DOES THE INVOICE MATCH THE WORK

One question, answered in four lines. Everything ISC billed this month either sits on a file ordered this month, on a file ordered earlier and still being worked, or is a card processing fee billed to the account. Nothing else. If the reconciliation does not reach zero, the difference is flagged for review and traced to the underlying service activity.

	Amount
Total billed in the month	$6,262.37
On files ordered in the month	$5,907.47
On files ordered earlier and still being worked	$351.00
Card processing fees, billed to the account	$3.90
Difference	$0.00

THE WORK ON EARLIER FILES

What It Was	Includes	Lines	Net Billed
Supplements	Supplement (15), Supplement, one of three free per file (8)	23	$195.00
Verifications	Income history (2)	2	$156.00
Reissues and DU/LPA retrieval	Fannie Mae DU retrieval (3)	3	$0.00
Credit reports	Tri-merge soft pull (1)	1	$0.00
Total		29	$351.00

Work billed this month on files opened in an earlier month. 11 lines carried no charge, such as included supplements and DU or LPA retrievals; they are listed so every line on the invoice is accounted for.

Card processing fees: 1 line totalling $3.90, charged when a credit report is paid by card. They are billed to the account, not to a credit file, which is why they are listed on their own.

WHO PAID

	Files	Amount
Paid by card by the ordering user	31	$3,287.61
Paid by the borrower through SmartPay	11	$1,017.86
Billed to the company		$1,956.90
Total charged in the month		$6,262.37

Card payments are taken when the report is ordered. 5 card-paid files still left $140.00 on the company invoice, for services added after the card payment, such as a credit simulation or a spouse removed. The rest was settled at the time of order. The ISC invoice is the statement of record for what is due.

Loan officer review

One row for each person files were billed to, sorted by orders and never ranked. These describe files and orders, not the performance of a person. Service columns count billing lines; a zero where colleagues show activity can be worth a workflow or training conversation. vs Company compares each median with the median of 718. Waiting counts files still waiting on a bureau.

6 repeat pulls

$644.50

3 repeats are worth a question, $352.50 in all, listed first. The other 3 are explained by the file, such as a re-pull after a rapid rescore or a soft pull followed by the hard pull. The data shows what was ordered, not why, so any single repeat is a question for the file.

The clearest example this month: the same borrower's missing bureau was solved once with another full pull at $117.50, and once with a bureau copy at $16.00. Same problem, two paths, $101.50 apart.

SAME BORROWER PULLED MORE THAN ONCE

No borrower was pulled more than once this month.

METHODOLOGY

Sources. This account's own credit order and billing records held by ISC Credit for August 1 - 31, 2026.

Counting files. 75 credit files were opened in the period. 2 are frozen bureau copies of another file, 17 are split or edited copies of an existing order (a joint report split in two, a spouse removed, or a bureau added) and 0 are refresh orders. Borrower order counts are 56, counting each original order once.

Matching. Files are grouped by applicant name. Reference numbers are reused across borrowers and months, so they are shown but not used to group.

Middle score. The middle of the three bureau scores, used only where all three returned a score. ISC does not adjust, estimate or fill in a missing score.

Frozen bureau copy. Charged per bureau recovered, counted across both the applicant and the co-applicant. For this account the rate is $16 per bureau.

Who paid. Card payments taken at the time of order, by the ordering user or by the borrower through SmartPay, are matched to the file they paid for. What is left is billed to the company. The ISC invoice is the statement of record for what is due.

Branch. The branch set for the ordering user on the ISC account. Users without one are shown as "No branch on file".

Repeat pulls. A second or later paid bureau product for the same borrower within the period. Each is marked explained when the file shows a reason, such as a rapid rescore or a soft pull followed by the hard pull, and worth a question when it does not. A missing bureau answered with a full pull rather than a bureau copy is worth a question.

Days open. Counted from the order date to the last day of August.

Worth a second look. Repeat pulls worth a question plus paid pulls that returned no middle score. A file is counted once even when it appears in both.

Cost per order. Everything billed to a user, divided by that user's borrower orders. It includes supplements, copies and verifications, so it measures total spend per file rather than the price of a credit report.

Figures shown by user. Sorted by volume, not ranked. They count files and orders, and are not a measure of effort, skill or results.

What this does not do. It does not assess borrower eligibility, predict an approval outcome, rate individual employees, or promise that any score can be improved.

Illustrative sample. Company name, branch names, user names and borrower names are invented and the figures are representative. This is not a real client account.

Prepared by ISC Credit exclusively for this account. The layout, measures and analysis in this report are proprietary to Information Searching Company and are provided for this client's internal use. Not for redistribution.

Net Billed Activity is Charge minus Credit from the ISC Activity Summary. It is a usage and monetary activity measure, not ISC gross profit and not the client's revenue. $26.00 in credits was applied this month and is already netted out of every figure here, so these totals sit below the gross charges on the invoice by that amount.

This report does not determine mortgage eligibility, approval likelihood, credit improvement potential, or whether a borrower is being actively worked. Where figures are shown by user they describe files and orders, not the performance of a person.
